

Creative writing

At the beginning, I was thinking about writing a story that can combine traditional culture of Taiwan, the activity is called give away rice dumpling (送肉粽), it is quite dark, and I thought it would be a good element to write, I also decided the topic of the story: A strange day in July.

However, when we had a conversation with Jane, and Jane mentioned a really important point, there must lots of people do not know this culture before, it would be a new understanding for them, and I also agreed that the explanation would occupy most of the words.

Therefore, I decided to write a story just like my favourite game: situation puzzle, it was like a movie running in my brain when I wrote the story, I was enjoying in the whole process, I could not stop thinking about how to make people care about my character, how to make it appealing, so I hid a little bit clues that could let reader to find.
